

Hail Suppression Company Gives Report On '59 Season

(Following is a report from the hail suppression company which is operating from a site west of Didsbury. The project covers portions of the Municipal Districts of Mountain View, Rocky View and Kneehill.)

The 1959 hail suppression operations which commenced June 20th, were terminated on Friday, September 25th.

Mixed feelings are the result of the operations this year. Many, who are severely hailed, feel that the project was a failure, while others with 100 per cent damage, feel that, since hail is so destructive, all possible should be done to develop more perfect methods of suppression. Then, too, many who have undamaged crops believe that hail suppression was responsible for protecting them from the many severe storms that occurred this year. Also, there are still some who believe it is impossible to suppress hail.

There are different methods used to suppress hail in different countries throughout the world. The most practical research has been carried out in Australia, France, Italy, Germany, Switzerland, United States and Canada. It is known that hail suppression is being used in Russia but very little data is allowed through the Iron Curtain. Some of the European countries and Australia have used rockets which disperse hygroscopic salts into clouds with some apparent degree of success. Also, carbon black dispersed into clouds has given interesting results. However, practical use is essential if the best method of using any of these materials or a combination of them, is to be found.

An entirely different weather pattern occurred this year as compared to the three previous years of hail suppression. For example, a three week period in July and most of September had few hail threats, while during the latter part of June and all of August very severe conditions developed. The major damage occurred on July 27th, August 2nd and August 26th, with the greatest amount of damage being done during the last storm. During several days of the operational period, severe hail threats developed but little damage occurred. These situations took place on July 3rd and 20th, and August 10th, 17th, and 18th. Any one of these days could have given severe hail under normal circumstances but no damage of any kind was reported with the exception of a small area east of Carbon on August 17th.

The 1959 storms were spread out to a degree that the two available aircraft were adequate to cover them but this year on at least five occasions, more aircraft were needed to handle the situations that developed. A good example of this situation was indicated during the last major storm on August 26th. The aircraft being dispatched on a first-come-first-served basis were not able to begin seeding the mid-afternoon storm until it was within a few miles of the project, where it had already reached a 12 mile width. Up to this point large areas of 100 per cent damage had occurred in the entire hail path. After a time lapse which was necessary for the aircraft seeding to become effective, the swath of hail damage decreased to 3 to 4 miles wide, with little 100 per cent damage. Following the storm as it continued east of the project, and again after a lapse of time when the seeding was no longer effective, the hail swath increased to ten miles wide with considerable 100 per cent damage.

There is evidence that hail suppression was quite effective on a number of occasions but with the high incidence and intensity of hail storms this year, more damage could be expected. There is also evidence that other cloud seeding techniques may in the future add to the effectiveness of the methods.

During the hail suppression period a total of 9208 generator hours were operated and the aircraft were flown on 49 days. Approximately 7½ inches of precipitation was recorded at the Didsbury Hail Suppression office while hail suppression was in effect.

LIGHT YOUR WAY ...

... WITH BIBLE STUDY

The Christian is a pilgrim on the road that ends at the pearly gates of heaven. "I'm but a stranger here; Heaven is my home." Naturally, the Christian often ponders over his future home.

God alone can tell us of heaven. Though He does not satisfy every question about our future home which arise in our heart as we journey through this life, yet He does tell us enough to may us cry out: "Would to God we were there."

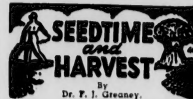

Heaven, God tells us, is a place where sin, sickness, sorrow, pain, death are totally unknown. He assures us that heaven is a place of perfect rest, where all of life's burdens and crosses are laid down, never to be taken up again. He informs us that those who reach that wonderful and glorious land will never again be plagued and vexed by sin. He promises us that heaven is a place of perfect harmony where righteousness and purity and goodness reign forever. And, best of all, He tells us that there we shall be with Him and see Him face to face.

Yet many questions regarding our eternal home remain unanswered. This should not trouble us. You and I, as Christians, are to walk by faith and not by sight. We accept His promises.

What really matters is that we are on the right way. Jesus said: "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life; no man cometh unto the Father but Me." We must trust in Him as our Savior, our only Savior from sin. Trusting in Him, we shall one day also enter our heavenly home and all questions that are unanswered here on earth will be fully answered. Christ is the Way. The Bible directs us on this Way. Continue in His Word.

DON'T LOSE DOLLARS!
HARVEST GRAIN
CAREFULLY

Prairie farmers suffer heavy financial losses each year owing to the use of inefficient, faulty harvesting methods. Last year, for instance, more than 600 cars of Western Canadian grain were graded rejected on account of stones. The price spread between straight grades of grain and grain rejected "on account of stones" is about 14 cents a bushel. No farmer can afford to lose 14 or even 5 cents a bushel on the grain he harvests this year. This and other types of grade losses can be eliminated or at least greatly reduced if farmers will take the time and the care to adjust their swathers, combines, or threshing machines for "top quality" grain production.

Modern Problems. In spite of their labor-saving efficiency, modern machines and methods have introduced important grain harvesting problems. One of these is the tendency for farmers and combine operators to cut grain crops before they are fully mature. As farmers know only too well, "immature kernels in barley" and "grass green kernels in wheat" are serious and costly degrading factors. Another growing problem is the occurrence in threshed grain of too many stones and earth pellets which cannot be separated by ordinary methods of cleaning. Many different kinds of mechanical kernel damage also occur—splitting of wheat, skimming and breaking of barley, and cracking of flaxseed—all of which are caused by faulty, inefficient harvesting and threshing practices.

Prevent Harvest Losses. This year particularly, owing to the fact that many grain crops are thin and short in the straw, farmers will be well paid for any extra care they exercise in their swathing, combining and threshing operations. No care in harvesting will help you to obtain the highest possible financial returns from the grain you harvest in 1960.

Nomination Day Brings Surprises . . .

Could be that this year's town elections will prove a bit more interesting than they have been during the past few years. With two candidates for the mayor's post and four running for the two vacancies on council, we should have some fun. But it won't be near as interesting if a large number of eligible voters don't turn out at the polls. Make sure you exercise your franchise on October 14th. It's your government, get out and vote for the ones you think should run town affairs — it's your money they'll be putting out with.

Fire Prevention Week Coming Up . . .

The annual fire prevention week will be observed this year from October 4th to 10th. Last year property damage by fire in Canada amounted to $116 million and the loss of 529 lives. The above figures could have been reduced considerably had a little more care been taken in the fire prevention field. Make sure, NOW, that you or your family won't be a casualty in the future — check over your house, barn, business place, or what-have-you; do it now. — don't be a loser because of fire, life is too short to lose it because of carelessness or laziness.

HOWARD

FULCHER

The majority of our farms can be classed as "family farms". This is a business where the farm and the home are inseparable and the two make the unit of operation. The family itself then has to decide on the program which will be carried out to make this a satisfactory and profitable business.

Organization of the farm business is important and requires a good farm and home plan. In developing a plan for a farm business consideration must be given to the farm and the family, every farm is an individual unit and every family has different desires and goals.

In developing a plan for your farm, consider firstly what you wish to accomplish. After you have done this take stock of where you are and what resources you have available. The farm plan then becomes a program using your resources to obtain the standard of living you desire. In formulating the plan it must be designed to follow a course to its end but should be flexible enough to meet changing conditions and technical advancements.

If financial resources are ample, re-organization of your program may be quick and complete. When available money is limited, the changes will be made slower in a planned pattern, credit used to make necessary productive improvement in which increased income results, should be carefully considered. Farming is a business.

A satisfactory combination of enterprises can be worked out utilizing the land, equipment, buildings, livestock, labor and capital you have. To do this well it is necessary to observe and to analyze your present operation, locating the strong and weak features. Then carefully consider possible alternatives which might more carefully use the available resources. Finally determine the overall program and develop it.

OUR MORALS AND

MR. KHRUSHCHEV

When an uneducated Russian peasant has to check us up on our morals, it's about time we grew concerned.

After watching a group of chorus girls on a Hollywood set kick up their legs and skirts in a can-can dance, Nikita Khrushchev, touring Russian premier, said: "It was immoral. Humanity's face is more beautiful than her backside."

"Only people who are over-satiated like such things and similar pornography. A man of normal morals is not interested in such things," he said.

It would be difficult to disagree with the Russian premier on this point. There is little doubt that the level of disconcertment in many Hollywood movies has slipped, as the lure of dollars to be made in appealing to the baser instincts becomes difficult for the hard-pressed movie industry to suppress.

Another realm of public entertainment where the laxity of moral discernment is alarming is Tin Pan Alley — popular music. We wonder how many teen-age "lovers" have been prompted to play hockey from school by the song, "Makin' Love" that oozes its sickening sentimentality out of the speaker every time the radio is turned on.

How many youngsters, urged on by their glands, become convinced that no matter how young they are, a marriage would be the practical and rational thing for them, after listening to "Robbin' the Cradle" and a dozen similar songs currently on the hit parade.

Perhaps Mr. Khrushchev has done us a great favor in pointing out our deficiencies in this respect, just as Prince Phillip did us a favor by his pronouncement on the poor physical fitness of the average Canadian. It now remains for us to do something about it.

The divine source of all true power will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Unreality" will include this verse from Psalms (62: 11): "God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power becometh unto God."

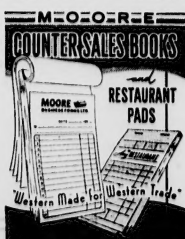

Correlative citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy includes (328:25 - 27): "There is no power apart from God. Omnipotence has all-power, and to acknowledge any other power is to dishonor God."

"...advancing the art of transportation"

Volkswagen's success is world-wide. New in design, unorthodox in concept, its many unique features have won wholehearted approval in 110 countries from laymen and engineers alike.

The engine is mounted in the rear. You get better traction in snow, mud or sand. The engine is air-cooled. No water to boil, no anti-freeze to buy, no radiator to leak. Torison bar suspension with independent springing on all four wheels. Greater comfort, safer road-holding. Just as important, maximum use of aluminum and magnesium alloys. Lighter weight, greater efficiency, more miles per gallon.

All these features were pioneered in mass-production by Volkswagen . . . proven right by millions of drivers . . . proven right for low-cost, trouble-free transportation. Already some of Europe's largest manufacturers have followed Volkswagen's lead. Now American companies are also adopting these advanced engineering principles. And only recently, leading American engineers awarded to Volkswagen the coveted Sperry Award for "advancing the art of transportation."

Improvements? Yes, they are being made constantly. But the basic design is maintained and so is the quality of workmanship. The happy result, an extra-ordinary high resale value. Volkswagen service is as good as the car itself. From coast to coast, 280 authorized Volkswagen service centres are equipped with genuine factory parts and factory-trained mechanics to give you efficient, inexpensive service . . . All this backed by a central $5-million dollar Spare Parts Depot at Toronto.

THE

By KATHLEEN CARNEY

Autumn is here with all its golden beauty. The crispness in the air tells us that winter is not far off but now is the time for the hunter.

Many homemakers have mixed feelings in having the hunter return with the bag of game birds. There is a distinct flavor to game meats which are not appreciated by everyone. However, the method of handling and cooking the meat makes a great deal of difference to the taste of the dinner.

HANDLING GAME BIRDS

The fast removal of body heat following killing is essential. Out in the field break neck, chop off head or sever veins and arteries of bird to drain blood. Never pile game birds in the trunk of a car rather spread them out. This permits the air to circulate among them and hasten cooling. If camping out-doors overnight hang them in a tree.

PLUCKING AND SKINNING

Skimming is much the simplest way, but in many cases results in the loss of flavor and dries the meat. This is especially true when you plan on roasting the bird.

It is better to pluck the larger feathers. Pin feathers can be easily removed by immersing bird in pail of boiling water having melted wax on the top. The wax will cling to the bird when lifted out and can be easily peeled off plus the pin feathers when cool.

EVISCERATING

The bird, do not forget to remove the oil sack located at the base of the tail. If it is not removed before cooking it imparts a bitter off-flavor to the rest of the fowl.

WILD FLAVOR

Some people enjoy the wild flavor in which case it is not necessary to soak or marinate the bird before cooking. Personally I prefer to soak game birds from 4 to 24 hours in a heavy salt solution in the refrigerator. This helps to draw the blood and reduces the wild game flavor. Other methods of reducing the wild flavor are: by marinating in vinegar, mild wine or sour milk, or by parboiling with sliced onion and carrot added to the water. Here are some cooking suggestions that you might want to try:

ROAST DUCK

Prepare ducks for roasting. Season with salt and pepper. Place a raw apple, apple slices or chopped apple and onion in the cavity. If additional richness is desired, rub with butter or strip with thin slices of salt pork. Place on rack in cooking pan; do not cover or add water unless it is an old bird. Cook at a moderate temperature (350 degrees) until tender. Remove stuffing before serving. Just before serving spread with current jelly or

OTTAWA REPORT
By E. M. WOOLLIAMS, M.P.

There are dozens of farmers who have called to me in reference to the new Canadian Loan Legislation. I have written two previous letters giving details of the new Act in this newspaper.

The Legislation, as I have set out previously, was approved by Parliament in the last Session, but before it actually becomes law it has to be proclaimed by the Governor-in-Council. I have been advised this week by The Honourable Mr. Douglas Harkness that at the present time his Department is drafting regulations under the new act and working to set up a new Organization. He stated that he hoped to have this completed within a few weeks and then they would be in a position to have the Act proclaimed and it will be put into effect. He mentioned that when the Act is proclaimed, due publicity will be given to it through the Press and the Radio.

In view of the large amount of interest shown in reference to this new legislation, I will be most happy to hear from anyone in reference to the same and endeavour to supply the information sought. However, until the regulations are fully complete and become part of the Act, it is difficult to be certain at the moment how it will function.

The New Office for Loans will be called "The Canadian Farm Loan Board." The old Act was administered from the City of Edmonton. I have always been in favor, and have spoken openly in this regard, that Offices should be opened in other Centres in Alberta. I would be particularly interested to hear from farmers in this respect.

JUST ANOTHER GEM...

There is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us, that it behooves all of us not to talk about the rest of us.

— Robert Louis Stevenson

PHEASANT

It can be prepared much like a chicken, varying the method according to the age. When roasting rub the outside with butter or strip with thin slices of bacon. Place on the rack in roasting pan and roast at a temperature of 300 degrees F. to 350 degrees F.

If a young bird, do not cover the pan. If an older bird, cover during roasting.

If you wish to alter the flavor try stuffing with uncooked dried prunes, quartered apples, and small amount of onion. Remove stuffing before serving.

WEDDINGS

PECK — ARMSTRONG

Knox United church, Didsbury was the scene recently for the double-ring wedding ceremony of Miss Marilyn Irene Armstrong and Harold Cecil Peck son of Mr. and Mrs. John Peck of Bowden, Alberta.

Rev. Gladys Giffin officiated. The bride who was given in marriage by her father wore a floor-length white lace and tulle over taffeta gown, fashioned with a full skirt and bolera jacket with long lily-point sleeves. From her head-dress mistle the full length veil. She carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses and her jewellery was a single strand of matched pearls.

The matron of honor was the only sister of the bride, Mrs. Berdine Hassler of Edmonton. She chose a yellow nylon waist length gown over nylon lace.

The brides-maid was Miss Dorothy Hall who was gowned in a pale green net over taffeta, and waist length; each carried a deep shade of yellow roses to compliment their gowns.

The bride's niece, Leana Hassler dressed in a pale pink flocked nylon acted as flower girl; she carried a nose-gay of white flowers.

The best man was the groom's brother, Frank Peck. Ushers were Herbert Peck and Duke Winchester. Mrs. H. Goetjen was soloist and sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register, accompanied by Mrs. C. Leeson, who supplied all the nuptial music.

Reception followed later in the church parlors and was attended by about sixty guests. Mr. Arnold Hassler, brother-in-law of the bride acted as master of ceremonies.

The bride's table centred the beautiful three tiered wedding cake flanked by flowers. The cake had been made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. B. Pass at Pierceland, Sask. and brought over for the occasion. Mr. Hassler proposed the toast to the bride and Mrs. Goetjen again sang "Bless This House" during the dinner hour.

The bride's mother was becomingly attired in a pink ensemble while the groom's mother chose a rust colored two-piece gown; each wore a corsage of roses to tone with their costumes.

The bride's two grand-mothers Mrs. Mary Murell of Moose Jaw and Mrs. Alice Bradley of Calgary were able to be present for the memorial day.

Open house was followed by a dance later that evening at the Mt. Jew hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Peck plan on residing in Didsbury after their honeymoon is over.

Out of town guests included those from Pierceland, Sask. also Moose Jaw, Sask., and relatives from Ontario as well as relations from Calgary, Bowden and Penhold, Alberta.

Mrs. M. A. Finlay was a weekend visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor. Clifford Stauffer has returned from his summer's work. Both he and his wife are enrolling in College for their fourth year of study.

Miss Verna Ashworth from West Virginia is now on campus and is located in the apartment that Mr. and Mrs. Auburn Witt occupied last year. She will be a full time teacher on the faculty this winter in the Bible department. She has completed her residence work at Winona Lake School of Theology leading to the degree of Master of Arts in Theology. She will receive her degree next year upon the completion of her Thesis.

Arthur Roy has completed the construction of the shelves and tables in the pantry of the kitchen. This work is the donation of the Alumni Association and means a great deal to the College.

More fruit has come from friends in B.C. We surely appreciate the help these friends are giving us for such donations mean financial aid, and a college of this sort needs that kind of help each year in order to successfully operate. Another friend has brought us quantities of potatoes and we want to say a hearty thank you for those as well.

Miss Elaine Wolfe is taking up her residence on campus this week in preparation for her duties of the winter. Miss Wolfe will be Dean of Women, and will also have charge of the domestic arrangements for student help. We welcome her to our staff, and we know she will enjoy her work among us.

Mr. Peter Waldin is on vacation at present before he resumes his work as teacher and Dean of Men for the winter months. Mr. Waldin will be assisted by Mr. Roeger Moyer as Dean since he has to be away each weekend.

If any friends are interested in voice lessons it will be possible to make arrangements with Mrs. Moyer, voice teacher, for such. One young person has already begun, and we know there will be a number of students who will register for the same.

WRONG INFORMATION !!!
Mother was busy in the kitchen when Junior asked, "Daddy would not murder anybody, would he?" "Gracious no, what made you ask that?"

"Well, I heard him down in the basement saying, 'Let's kill the other two, Joe.'"

WHO SAID THAT ???
